

Loyola's Center for Environmental Law and Land Use

PRESENTS

A Lecture by Thomas Mitchell

Evaluating Farmland Sales Empirically: Does Either Race or Type of Sale Matter?

Tuesday, April 3

3:00 P.M.

Law School, Room 308

Mr. Mitchell has done extensive work and research on how land tenure regimes impact poor and minority communities. He is currently working on a Ford Foundation-funded book project that will address the economic, civic and social impacts of black land loss in the rural South.

Thomas Mitchell
Associate Professor of Law
University of Wisconsin
Law School

<http://law.wisc.edu/facstaff>

