Narrative/Justification for Judgment of Compliance

As stated in its mission, Loyola University New Orleans School of Law in the Jesuit tradition of academic rigor, pursuit of justice, and service to others, the College of Law has as its mission to educate future members of the Bar to be skilled advocates and sensitive counselors-at-law committed to ethical norms in pursuit of dignity for all.

Recognizing the rigors of its curriculum, the School of Law offers a variety of academic support services to law students to help them succeed in their law school careers. The services provided range from individual academic counseling support to career counseling and personal counseling to the funding of student organization events. Descriptions of these services are published in the Law Bulletin, the Loyola University New Orleans Student Handbook and/or thorough internal memoranda, newsletters and electronic communications.
