

Spring 2026 - Course Descriptions

**Note – per the law bulletin:*

- (1) students must earn at least nine (9) hours of credit from any combination of experiential courses, and all courses marked with an asterisk (*) can be used towards the experiential requirement;*
- (2) students must earn at least two (2) hours of course credit in a course designated to satisfy the Law and Poverty requirement, and all courses marked with a cross (†) satisfy this requirement.*
- (3) upper-level students (not 1L's) must submit a piece of legal writing in which the student exhibits the ability to perform legal analysis, in addition to the writing done in the Lawyering I and Lawyering II classes. Courses marked with a paper symbol (P) MAY be used to fulfill the minimum two- (2-) hour Writing Requirement, if approved in advance by the instructor.*

For additional graduation requirement information please visit: <https://law.loyno.edu/self-audit-forms-degree-programs-jd-certificates-concentration>.

General Law Core Courses

LAW-L710 Torts II (@)

2 hrs.

Among other topics, Torts II may cover strict liability; products liability (defective products); vicarious liability; nuisance (air, water, and noise pollution); abnormally dangerous activities liability; defamation; limited duties; and/or invasion of privacy. This class is appropriate for both civil law and common law students.

For the Spring 2026 semester, this course is being offered to current 1L students only as a possible elective, as there will be very few seats available. Due to curriculum changes, students beginning in the Fall of 2021 and going forward will take Torts II as a requirement in their final year (if not already taken as a 1L elective).

LAW-L730 Civil Procedure II

2 hrs.

In this course, students will continue their study of issues related to the federal court system from Civil Procedure I, including some or all of the following: joinder of claims and parties, discovery, adjudication without trial, alternative dispute resolution, functions of the judge and jury, appellate review, and the binding effect of judgments. Material includes select provisions of the U.S. Constitution, federal statutes, federal rules, and case interpretations of these provisions, as well as ethical standards and considerations.

LAW-L740 Constitutional Criminal Procedure (@)

3 hrs.

A detailed exploration of criminal practice and procedure including constitutional limitations of law enforcement and the rights of individuals in areas such as search and seizure, arrest, electronic surveillance, self-incrimination, exclusionary rules, right to counsel, and custodial interrogation as contained in the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution.

LAW-L746 Business Organizations I*3 hrs.

This course is an introduction to the fundamental legal principles governing agency and fiduciary relationships, unincorporated business associations, and corporations. Among the topics covered are: 1) the formation, operation, and dissolution of partnerships, limited liability companies, and corporations (both privately-held and publicly-held); 2) the distribution of powers among the owners and managers of such organizations; and 3) the relative advantages of various organizational forms.

LAW-L765 Lawyering II (*)*3 hrs.

This course builds on Lawyering I in teaching legal document drafting skills and problem-solving techniques. A significant portion of the course will be devoted to the preparation of an appellate brief and the oral argument of the case on appeal. Completion of the prescribed brief and participation in oral arguments are mandatory requirements.

Prerequisite: LAW-L715 Lawyering I

\ Students completing the course earn three hours of experiential learning credits.*

LAW-L766 Principles of Legal Analysis*3 hrs.

Intensive instruction in legal methodology and analysis through more individualized instruction than generally provided in most law school courses and in coordination with other first-year courses, working with problems and issues raised by first-year courses (civil procedure, contracts, torts, criminal law, or property). Students will complete numerous written exercises that will provide the basis for evaluating their current performance and prescribing goals and methods of improvement. Enrollment in this course will be limited per section to all faculty teaching this course to give the expected intensive feedback on the individual written exercises.

LAW-L770 Lawyering III (Ethics) (@)*3 hrs.

This course concerns the professional and ethical activities and duties of the lawyer. The course includes a study of the history and traditions of the legal profession, including the concept of self-discipline and the model rules of professional responsibility. It also examines the impact of ethics and tradition on the practice of the lawyer.

**Note: Lawyering II is NOT a prerequisite for this course. Students interested in participating in Clinical Seminar are advised they will need to have completed Lawyering III prior to starting Clinical Seminar.*

For the Spring 2026 semester, a professor may require a final exam (Dawson, Thibaut) or may require the MPRE (Ciolino) as a final assessment:

- MPRE Registration Deadline: January 22, 2026; MPRE Test Dates: March 24, 2026, and March 25, 2026; deadline to request any accommodations for the March 2026 test: November 20, 2025. Please check your jurisdiction requirements for test scores HERE.

- PLEASE NOTE: For 1L students taking this as an elective, be aware that your Spring Lawyering II deadlines may conflict with test dates. You may wish to choose a section where the professor requires a final exam rather than taking the MPRE.

General Law Electives (LAW)

LAW-L781 Law and Poverty († @)

2 hrs.

This course provides an introduction to the detrimental effects of poverty on society and poor people. It includes a treatment of the history of institutional response to the needs of the economically disadvantaged in the western world. It involves a critical examination of the legal system's response to the economic, social, and human problems of poverty, particularly in the fields of social security, welfare, unemployment, and worker's compensation. Special treatment is given to legislative and judicial initiatives in alleviating poverty as it burdens the family, women, and minorities.

† This course satisfies the Law and Poverty Requirement.

LAW-L782 Law and Poverty Seminar: Social Justice Lawyering († @)

2 hrs.

Some people come to law school hoping they will learn how to use the tools of law to transform and restructure the world in order to make our world a more just place. This course is designed to introduce students to the ways in which lawyers committed to social justice engage with communities, individual clients, social and political causes and legal systems to help effect social change. In the course, we will examine different models of social justice lawyering, including direct representation of people in civil and criminal courts, impact litigation, policy and legislative advocacy, lawyering with and against the government, movement lawyering and more to show the many ways that lawyers can work with others toward social justice. Because this is a seminar, each student will be required to submit a paper for part of the final grade, but cannot fulfill the writing requirement. Class participation will be part of the grade, as will occasional short reflection papers.

This course has a priority to a certain number of 1L's as an elective. Upper-class students will place themselves on the waitlist and will be emailed once a spot is available after 1L's are registered.

† This course satisfies the Law and Poverty Requirement.

LAW-L801 Intellectual Property Law

3 hrs.

The objective of this course is to provide a comprehensive survey and overview of the principal areas of federal and state law governing intellectual property rights, including trademarks, patents, copyrights, unfair competition, trade secrets, idea protection, and the right to publicity.

LAW-L803 Western Legal Tradition (📖)

3 hrs.

This course treats significant aspects and institutions of the Roman law, canon law, common law, and civil law. It also considers the interaction of these traditions in the context of our American legal heritage. Some emphasis is placed upon codification movements in Europe and the United States and particularly in Louisiana.

📖 This course MAY satisfy the upper-level Writing Requirement; check with instructor.

LAW-L812 Creditors' Rights and Bankruptcy (@)

3 hrs.

This course examines the problems of the debtor who does not pay his debts. The study includes processes available to the creditor for collection, competition among multiple creditors for the assets of the debtor, means of affecting a distribution of the debtor's assets among his creditors, means of rehabilitating the debtor, and the debtor's right to some measure of protection. More than half of the course is devoted to a study of the Bankruptcy Act since all aspects of the creditor/debtor problem are colored by the interaction of state-created rights and the federal bankruptcy provisions.

LAW-L814 Incarceration Law and Policy (* †)*2 hrs.

This class provides an overview of incarceration in the U.S., with a focus on the operation of the U.S. Constitution within prisons and jails. Specific topics include prison health care, involuntary labor, freedom of speech, and religion. Students will also develop investigative skills through class research projects on deaths in custody in Louisiana. The objectives of the course are to master these particular areas of constitutional doctrine, to situate the doctrine within a particular historical context, and to further refine each student's legal reasoning and critical thinking skills. Students completing the course earn two experiential credits and fulfill the Law and Poverty requirement.

\ Students completing the course earn two hours of experiential learning credits.*

† This course satisfies the Law and Poverty Requirement.

LAW-L817 Mediation Law & Practice (previously Mediation & Arbitration) (*) 3 hrs.

Mediation is a process by which a neutral third party, the mediator, assists the parties in reaching a voluntary resolution of their disputes. The vast majority of legal disputes are not resolved in a court of law. Many disputes settle during the mediation process. This course is designed to develop the communication skills essential to effective mediation; to assess various mediation models and mediator styles; and to develop the skills necessary for lawyers to represent clients in mediation. Topics include the negotiation process, the components of the mediation process, intake, passive and active listening skills, emotional intelligence, issues of culture and power, the caucus, ethics, breaking impasse and reaching agreement, and effective advocacy in mediation. The class will include lectures, readings, written assignments, in and out of class exercises, videos, demonstrations, discussions, and simulations.

LAW-L823 First Amendment*3 hrs.

Students will examine the theoretical basis for constitutional protection of speech and religion and the analytical structure developed by the United States Supreme Court to determine the extent to which government may regulate or interfere with activities protected by the First Amendment.

Prerequisites: LAW-L750 Constitutional Law

LAW-L825 Medical Malpractice (@)*2 hrs.

This course deals with the substantive and procedural aspects of medical malpractice. Through an examination of statutory and case law, combined with skills exercises, this course covers topics such as medical negligence, standard of care, causation, informed consent, respondeat superior, liability among providers, agency issues, and peer review.

LAW-L827-001 Contracts / Commercial Law Seminar: Mergers & Acquisitions 2 hrs.

(New Course Spring 2026)

This course is an introductory survey class designed to provide students with a foundational understanding of: the legal framework governing merger and acquisition ("M&A") transactions. Key statutes, regulations and case law governing M&A transactions. The practical aspects of structuring, negotiating and closing M&A transactions. Deal documentation and timelines. NOTE: THIS COURSE DOES NOT FULFILL THE WRITING REQUIREMENT.

LAW-L832 Immigration and Citizenship Law (@ 📖)*3 hrs.

This is the foundational immigration law course. It surveys the federal law of immigration and citizenship law. As currently taught it is a course that integrates the study of substantive law with a practice-oriented approach because it uses a case simulation and an administrative appellate brief exercise as the primary evaluation. Students interested in the certificate should try to take this course by the spring of their second year so that they've completed it before they sign up for the Immigration Clinic (this is not a requirement, but it can assist the student).

📖 This course MAY satisfy the upper-level Writing Requirement; check with instructor.

LAW-L835 Natural Resources Law (@)*3 hrs.

Natural resource management presents extremely difficult and contentious issues of law and public policy. Major debates continue to rage over offshore drilling, the protection for biodiversity, and the management of commercial fisheries. This course provides an overview of the way in which our society allocates and regulates the use of several natural resources, including fisheries, wildlife, wetlands, petroleum, and lands of aesthetic beauty such as Yellowstone or Louisiana's fabled swamps. Students will examine the major federal environmental statutes directed toward conserving natural resources, including the Endangered Species Act and the National Environmental Policy Act. The historical, constitutional, and economic underpinnings of natural resource law will also be addressed.

LAW-L837 Property & Land Use Sem: Property, Land Use, and Justice († 📖)*3 hrs.

The primary goal of this three-credit course is to investigate the intersection of racial discrimination with property and land use law in the United States. The course adopts a critical approach that aims to reveal how racial discrimination has shaped the historical development of property and land use law in the United States. It explores actual cases and controversies in which race was a deciding factor, regardless of whether race was explicitly acknowledged, and it examines how property and land use law has marginalized racial minorities and the poor. The course also addresses attempts by legislatures, law reformers, courts, and advocates to change the law and create legal institutions that combat racial and class discrimination or that remedy the effects of racial discrimination and marginalization. Toward the end of the course, students will study recent developments in several other countries, including especially South Africa. At various moments, students will also engage in case studies of events and developments in the New Orleans metropolitan area and elsewhere in Louisiana.

The course assumes a foundational knowledge of either Civil Law Property or Common Law Property. Students in either the civil law or common law program should feel comfortable enrolling in this course. Courses in Real Estate Transactions, Louisiana Sale and Lease, or Land Use may be useful preparation for this course but are by no means required prerequisites.

† This course satisfies the Law and Poverty Requirement.

📖 This course MAY satisfy the upper-level Writing Requirement; check with instructor.

LAW-L838 Oil and Gas Law (@)*3 hrs.

This course involves a specialized study of the nature of interests in oil, gas, and other minerals, including the remedies of the owner against the adjoining landowner and the trespasser, the nature of the mineral contract, sale, and reservation of mineral rights, prescription of mineral rights, and the mineral lease. The course also may include a study of the conservation laws pertaining to minerals and the regulations of the Louisiana Conservation Commissioner and of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, the leasing of state and federal public lands, operating and production agreements, special contractual agreements relative to mineral exploration and development, deviations from standard provisions in mineral leases and instruments creating or conveying mineral servitudes and royalties, and an introduction to some of the special tax problems of owners and producers of minerals. The Louisiana Mineral Code is given coverage in all areas.

LAW L840 Employment Law (@)

3 hrs.

This course examines the laws and doctrines (federal and state) that regulate and impact the employer-employee relationship. Among the topics typically explored in this course are: employment at will; employment contracts (express and implied); whistleblower and mass layoff protections; restrictive covenants and trade secrets; an introduction to federal labor law and anti-discrimination law, wage and hour laws; the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA); and applicable claim procedures, defenses, remedies, and litigation strategies.

LAW-L842 Courts in a Federal System

3 hrs.

This course deals with requirements of Article III of the United States Constitution such as standing, ripeness, and mootness. A major portion of the course is devoted to problems relating to concepts of federalism and comity between the state and federal systems. The class also analyzes the relationship between the branches of the federal government. For example, the extent to which Congress may withdraw jurisdiction from those courts and the power of the court to review actions of co-equal branches are issues receiving attention. The course also offers a review of jurisdiction based on the existence of diversity and a federal question. The course also covers some of the following subjects: the Erie problem, suits against state officials and the state, abstention, injunctions against state proceedings, and review of state court judgments.

There are no prerequisites to this course but it is preferred that students have completed LAW-L725 Civil Procedure I and LAW-L750 Constitutional Law before taking this course.

LAW-L846 Seminar in Scholarly Writing (📖)

3 hrs.

This seminar is open to candidates of the Loyola Law Review, Journal of Public Interest Law, or Maritime Law Journal who are currently writing a comment. Others may enroll with the instructor's approval. Students enrolled in this seminar will write and edit one substantial comment and, in addition, evaluate and edit the writing of other students. Students will be evaluated on the basis of their research, writing, and editing skills. Instructor approval is required.

📖 This course MAY satisfy the upper-level Writing Requirement; check with instructor.

LAW-L847 Introduction to Legislative Drafting and Regulatory Practice (*📖) 3 hrs. (previously Legislation and Regulation)

This course introduces students to three foundational concepts in American law: the tripartite governmental structure and the legislative process, principles of statutory interpretation, and the procedures and doctrines governing the administrative state. This course aims to equip advocates and advisors with the tools they need to pursue policy change. Over the course of the semester, students will draft legislation, "adopt" and research a federal agency, and draft a short comment that could be filed with an agency in an open rulemaking proceeding.

\ Students completing the course earn three hours of experiential learning credits.*

📖 This course MAY satisfy the upper-level Writing Requirement; check with instructor.

NOTE: YOU MAY NOT RECEIVE BOTH EXPERIENTIAL CREDIT AND WRITING REQUIREMENT FULFILLMENT FOR THIS COURSE.

LAW-L848 Privacy Law Seminar (@)

2 hrs.

Information (data) privacy and cyber security issues take center stage today in corporate America. Many companies are required, or market-compelled, to have a CPO - Chief Privacy Officer. Could that job be for you? Compliance requires knowledge of several federal and many state statutes, in particular the California statutory regime of the CCPA/CPRA (and with an exponentially growing set of state statutes across the country), as well as knowledge of data privacy issues imposed from across the Atlantic by the EU. As a seminar class, students drive the discussion with their classmates and enjoy the opportunity to select and present on current topics of interest to them. This seminar strives to address key questions and current topics: What is privacy? What is, and who are, in the struggle for data privacy? What rights are protected or regulated by a comprehensive data privacy statute? Which federal statutes govern (FCRA, GLB, HIPPA and others)? What is the role of the FTC in data privacy and security regulation? What is, and what are the remedies for, a data breach? What is online behavioral advertising? Do you understand the rights which you, your family and friends cede when you open a social media account?

LAW-L852 Maritime Personal Injury

3 hrs.

This course builds on the basic Admiralty I course and develops the requirements for seaman status under the Jones Act, seaman's remedies, maintenance and cure, the warranty of seaworthiness, Death on the High Seas Act as well as the defenses available. The course also explores the jurisdictional requirements of the Longshore and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act and its incorporation as a remedy under the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act, remedies of maritime employees, and obligations of maritime employers. In addition, students will learn the administrative process of the Longshore Act.

LAW-L864 Admiralty I is a preferred but not mandatory prerequisite.

LAW-L853 Family Law Seminar (📖)

2 hrs.

This seminar permits students to conduct an intensive study of one or more issues in family law. The students will investigate marriage, the parent-child relationship, and other contemporary family topics in a comparative format. Each student will be responsible for a class presentation and a written paper on a specific topic in the area.

***FOR THE SPRING 2026 SEMESTER ONLY, the prerequisites of LCIV-L900 Civil Law of Persons or LCOM-L800 Family Law have been waived for this course.*****

📖 This course MAY satisfy the upper-level Writing Requirement; check with instructor.

LAW-L857 Soccer and the Law (@)

2 hrs.

This course examines the governance mechanisms employed by the sport of soccer and the legal issues resulting from this governance structure. The first part introduces students to the institutions that set the rules for the sport both on and off the field, and describes the interaction and tension between the international and club game. The second part describes how this set of private organizations interacts with and is shaped by legal institutions, particularly those in the US and Europe. Part three looks at national and regional rules attempting to regulate financial aspects of soccer clubs. Part four investigates shortcomings of this governance structure, and how those shortcomings have been treated by soccer's internal governance mechanisms and by the formal legal system. Finally, students will consider issues on the horizon shaping the future of the sport.

LAW-L859 Regulation of Sports Industry Seminar (1)*2 hrs.

This course will consider the response of the legal system to the particular problems of the sports industry. Coverage includes contractual obligations in professional sports, antitrust laws, regulation of agents, sports violence, labor relations and collective bargaining in professional sports, arbitration, professional sports franchise relocation, the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the regulation of intercollegiate sports, regulation of amateur sports, gender and racial discrimination in athletics, and drug testing.

■ This course MAY satisfy the upper-level Writing Requirement; check with instructor.

LAW-L862(-051) Criminal Law Seminar: White Collar Crime (1)*2 hrs.

This course is designed for students with an interest in advanced criminal law practice, particularly the growing legal field of white-collar crime and business fraud. This seminar course will introduce students to the substantive law of white-collar crime, as well as the practice, procedure, and strategy concerning federal white-collar criminal investigations and prosecutions. Topics include the definition of and theory behind white collar crime; grand jury law and practice; corporate criminality; prosecutorial discretion; plea bargaining; grants of immunity, privileges, and other common defenses; charging decisions and drafting of indictments; sentencing and the goals of punishment; and substantive law topics including digital crimes, conspiracy, mail and wire fraud, RICO, money laundering, trade secrets theft, and forfeiture. In addition to learning the substantive law, students will focus on the practical skills required to be an effective practitioner in white collar criminal cases and business fraud. Students will have several guest speakers during the semester, including a federal prosecutor, a member of the judiciary, and other white-collar defense practitioners.

■ This course MAY satisfy the upper-level Writing Requirement; check with instructor.

LAW-L862(-052) Criminal Law Seminar: Criminal Juries (1)*2 hrs.

This course will explore the challenges of ensuring a jury of one's peers including the potential influence of biases based on class, gender, and race among others. Students will review the history of the jury trial process, the curation and expansion of who has the right to serve, and the successes and failures of reforms aimed at preventing juror discrimination. The objective of the course is to provide students with an analytic framework through case law, statutes, and courtroom practices to understand the relationship between race and the administration of jury service in the criminal legal system. This framework will guide students to discern practical solutions and remedies necessary to curate an actual jury of one's peers in criminal jury trials.

■ This course MAY satisfy the upper-level Writing Requirement; check with instructor.

LAW-L871 Advanced Federal Income Tax*2 hrs.

This course consists of an advanced study of federal income taxation emphasizing planning considerations affecting the personal and commercial transactions of individual taxpayers.

Prerequisite: LAW-L980 Income Taxation

LAW-L873 Taxation of Partnerships and Other Pass-through Entities*3 hrs.

This course involves a study of the tax treatment of the formation, operation, and termination of pass-through entities including partnerships, limited liability companies, and subchapter S corporations. Class discussion will focus on the study of the Internal Revenue Code and Regulations and solving problems a taxpayer must deal with in practice.

Prerequisite: LAW-L980 Income Taxation

LAW-L875 State and Local Taxation (@)*2 hrs.

This course considers the varieties of taxation imposed by state and local governments including property taxes, business taxes, sales and use taxes, and the various exemptions. Tulane and Loyola students are invited to register. Tulane will be the course site this semester.

Prerequisite LAW-L980 Income Taxation has been waived by the instructor for this term.

LAW-L877 Con Law Seminar: Comparative Constitutional Law*1 hr.

This course approaches Comparative Constitutional Law from a qualitative and foundational perspective. The goal is to consider certain constitutional issues that really matter, to try to understand them better and to explore their potential strengths and weaknesses—for which purposes a natural law perspective will be preferred (without prejudice to others). If that is the goal, it is not about how many jurisdictions one picks for this comparative venture; it is about how much one can learn from those selected. In other words, it is not so much about the quantity of comparisons as it is about having a topic deserving to be compared on account of its worth and relevance. The U.S. Constitution will be the permanent point of reference for the several comparisons; structural matters will receive more attention than those immediately concerning rights. The topics to be analyzed will include the concept of normativity, the natural law foundations of comparative constitutionalism, federalism, judicial review, mixed jurisdictions, and the restriction of property rights during emergencies.

- This is a two-week course held on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and one Friday, January 13-22, 2026.

LAW-L879 Admiralty Seminar: Marine Insurance*3 hrs.

The purpose of this course is to introduce students to principles of insurance in general and marine insurance, in particular. The provisions and coverage of the standard hull policy will be explored including admiralty jurisdiction for marine insurance and applicable law as well as concepts of “utmost good faith,” warranties, perils of the sea, the Inchmaree clause, salvage, the sue and labor clause, total and constructive total loss and collision damage. Also, coverage under the Protection and Indemnity insurance policy and coverage afforded by Protection & Indemnity Clubs for liability for personal injury and death of seamen and non-seamen, damage due to striking a fixed object, litigation expenses, and state direct action statutes will be examined. Time permitting coverage for damage due to pollution will be surveyed.

LAW L864 Admiralty I and/or LAW L852 Maritime Personal Injury (Admiralty II) are beneficial but not a prerequisite.

LAW-L880 Entrepreneurship (*)*3 hrs.

This primarily experiential course pairs third-year law students with (1) mentors in the New Orleans legal community who practice corporate law, with an emphasis on early-stage ventures, and (2) early-stage ventures, both for-profit and non-profit, who are in need of legal service. Under the supervision of mentors, students will prepare basic transactional legal documentation for early-stage ventures in the local community. Enrollment is limited and preference is given to students who have successfully completed Business Planning (LAW-L867) and/or Contract Drafting (LAW-L843). Enrollment requires applying for the course and Professor approval.

Prerequisite: LAW-L746 Business Organizations I

\ Students completing the course earn three hours of experiential learning credits.*

LAW-L886(-001) Environmental Law Seminar: Ocean and Coastal Law

3 hrs.

(New Course Spring 2026)

More than half of the U.S. population lives near a coast. We all rely on coasts and oceans for a variety of important services like food, transportation, recreation, and energy. Coastal and marine resources have become popular targets for both intense development and conservation efforts. This course provides an introduction to the laws, policies, and decision-making processes related to coastal and marine resources in the United States, with some emphasis on the Gulf of Mexico. We will explore issues like coastal land use, sea-level rise, offshore energy production (oil and gas, wind), oil spills, deep seabed mining, ocean plastics pollution, fisheries management, and the protection of marine mammals. Laws and treaties discussed will include the Louisiana State and Local Coastal Management Act, the U.S. Coastal Zone Management Act, the U.S. Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act, the U.S. Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act, the U.S. Marine Mammal Protection Act, and the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea.

LAW-L886(-051) Environmental Law Sem: Renewable Energy Law and Policy

2 hrs.

(New Course Spring 2026)

This class will cover the laws and policies designed to promote renewable energy development. It is designed for students seeking a broad overview of the goals, basic rules and procedures, and recent controversies in renewable energy law and policy in the United States.

The course will review the existing renewable energy technologies and the practical limitations involved in their development, siting, and integration into the U.S. electricity grid. The course will also explore the most common renewable energy laws, including subsidies, renewable portfolio standards, and net metering. The course will consider how these laws operate within the existing electricity regulatory system and examine recent efforts to reform utility regulations. Finally, the course will explore transmission regulation for renewable resources and the legal and policy framework for electricity storage. The class will focus on renewable energy development in the United States but may also provide some comparative examples of renewable energy policies used in other countries.

LAW-L888 Art Law

2 hrs.

(New Course Spring 2026)

Art Law focuses on major legal issues related to the visual arts, including an analysis of the meaning and purpose of art; First Amendment issues (freedom of speech, censorship and obscenity); artists' rights (copyright, fair use, and moral rights); copyright formalities (registration and infringement issues); trademark; rights of privacy and publicity; the major players in the art market, including art galleries, art dealers, collectors and museums; and a repeated analysis and discussion of the impact and importance of visual arts on American society.

~~LAW-L896(-001) Professional Seminar: Collaborative Law – The Past, Present, and Future of Family Transitions~~ ~~2 hrs.~~ CANCELED*

This course will focus on dispute resolution issues with an emphasis on domestic relations through interactive class participation. An examination of emotional, physiological, legal, and structural issues in the court system will address the neuroscience of how we make decisions and the specific impact on domestic relations disputes.

LAW-L896(-002) Professional Seminar: Winning Motions: Effective Writing and Argument Techniques (*) 2 hrs.

The course teaches effective advocacy techniques for writing and oral argument through lecture; in-class and out-of-class writing assignments; and a mock oral argument. Students will learn the difference between a Motion to Dismiss and a Motion for Summary Judgment and how to use these dispositive motions as effective advocacy tools. Using an actual case file from federal court, including pictorial evidence and depositions, students will represent either the Plaintiff or the Defendant in a personal injury case. Students representing the Defendant will prepare a motion for summary judgment and a brief in support. Students representing the Plaintiffs will prepare the opposition. Students representing the Plaintiffs will also prepare a motion in limine and brief on an evidentiary issue to which the Defendant students will prepare an opposition. Students will orally argue at least one of the motions. Students will earn experiential credit when they successfully complete the course.

\ Students completing the course earn two hours of experiential learning credits.*

LAW-L896(-051) Professional Seminar: Advanced Trial Advocacy (*) 2 hrs.

This course is composed of two parts. The first will be a series of lectures addressing some of the most complex and frequently misunderstood rules of evidence, as well as evidence laws and procedures not contained in the rules themselves, and how this law can be applied to typical trial scenarios so that the students can use this knowledge to their advantage in their future trial practices. The second part will follow the evidence section and will be experiential. Each student will conduct a brief deposition and will present a direct trial examination and trial cross-examination based on a complex fact pattern. The students will be expected to employ the evidentiary rules and techniques learned in the first session, including objections to be made.

Prerequisites: LAW-L760 Evidence and LAW-L961 Trial Advocacy

\ Students completing the course earn two hours of experiential learning credits.*

LAW-L897 Clinical Seminar – Live Client Clinic (* †) 5 hrs.

Students participate in clinic orientation before the start of classes, after which they are sworn in to practice law as a Student Practitioner under the supervision of a Clinic Professor. Clinic students are assigned civil or criminal cases with jurisdiction in municipal, state, federal, and/or administrative courts. Student Practitioners are expected to represent clients from the point of their case assignment through final disposition or the end of the course, whichever comes first. Representation includes but is not limited to, client interviews, fact investigation, informal and formal discovery, drafting and filing of pleadings, legal research, writing of fact and legal memoranda, communications with opposing counsel, court appearances, including trial and appellate work, and law office management. Student Practitioners must devote a minimum of 15 hours per week to clinic class and casework in this course.

Standard participation is two full semesters during the fall and spring semesters of the 3L year; however, certain sections of the Law Clinic are offered for one semester only. For each semester of Law Clinic that a student successfully completes, he or she will earn five credit hours (letter-graded), five hours of experiential learning credits, four skills credits (satisfying all of the required categories if taken for two semesters), and satisfy the Law and Poverty Requirement.

Prerequisite: LAW-L770 Lawyering III (Ethics)

\ Students completing the course earn five hours of experiential learning credits.*

† This course satisfies the Law and Poverty Requirement.

LAW-L900 Academic Externship (*)

1 or 2 or 3 hrs.

This experiential course allows students to earn credit for legal work performed while placed with a government agency, legal non-profit, or court. Second- and third-year law students in the upper three-quarters of their class and in good standing may apply to participate in this program. Students must receive an offer from a qualifying placement and instructor approval to enroll. This course cannot be used to satisfy the writing requirement. This is a pass/fail course with a regular classroom component. The extern must be willing to devote at least 60 hours of work per credit hour during the semester to this course. Applying for the course and Instructor approval are required to register.

\ Students completing the course earn experiential learning credits equivalent to the credit hours earned in the course.*

LAW-L902 Elder and Disabled Law (@)

2 hrs.

This seminar is devoted to the introduction of a variety of topics that impact the elderly, the disabled, and their families. The course will cover topics such as power of attorney, interdiction, capacity, elder abuse, geriatric care management, nursing home rights, end-of-life care, and successions.

LAW-L906 Advanced Legal Research (*)

3 hrs.

This practical, skills-based course is designed to help prepare students for practice or future study by building on the research techniques presented in Lawyering I. Advanced Legal Research focuses on the effective use of electronic and print legal research tools and examines existing sources for both legal and non-legal information of interest to lawyers. Students will receive advanced training on comprehensive proprietary online research systems (Westlaw, Lexis, and Bloomberg Law), and be introduced to specialized online systems (ProQuest, BNA, and CCH Intelliconnect). This course will provide coverage of selected research subjects, including statutory research, legislative history, administrative and regulatory research, practice aids, research strategies, and various specialized areas, such as an introduction to international/foreign research sources. The focus is on the practical application of research resources in various areas, for instance compiling a legislative history, drafting a comment to a regulation, or compiling a company profile. Assessment is based on five experiential learning exercises and a final project, and students should be prepared to present their work in a professional format (both orally and in writing). NOTE: THIS COURSE DOES NOT FULFILL THE WRITING REQUIREMENT.

\ Students completing the course earn three hours of experiential learning credits.*

Students gain an understanding of the administrative structure that regulates health in admissions and at borders and health care issues in detained immigrant communities.

LAW-L976 Environmental Law and Policy Lab (*)*3 hrs.

This is a unique course in which students, individually or in teams, work under the supervision of skilled attorneys with years of city, state, federal, and international environmental advocacy experience on a semester-long project with real non-profit, or community clients. Topics may include: oil and gas drilling, endangered species protection, climate change, urban agriculture, fisheries management, and more. The course walks students through the full process of representing a client on policy and/or legislative matters. Each class focuses on a specific skill—drafting and signing client retainers, crafting legislation, lobbying, writing Freedom of Information Act requests, using press releases and radio/TV interviews—as an advocacy tool, and more. Activities may include: drafting agency regulations or state or federal legislation; organizing community action; and participating in stakeholder working groups, agency or legislative hearings, or other meetings and events. The course includes weekly discussions on procedure and related environmental law and advocacy issues, supplemented by guest speaker presentations. These complement the hands-on, “real work” activities and provide diverse experiences for students that will prepare them to engage in this field post-graduation. Space is very limited - usually up to eight (8) students. Enrollment requires applying for the course and professor approval – email Professor Marianne Cufone, mcufone@loyno.edu.
